THE 100TH GRADUATING CLASS

DUNKIRK,
NEW YORK

FOREWORD

When the bell in the tower tolls the parting of the 1958 Senior Class during the processional at Commencement, it will also mark the one-hundredth graduation exercise at Alma Mater.

The aged bell has always echoed forth on historic occasions. Presented to the school by the Erie Railroad a century ago it probably tolled a mourning note in 1865 when Lincoln's funeral train, stopped in Dunkirk, enroute to Illinois.

Like the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia, it symbolizes in its loud crescendo the march of young Americans onward to their rendezvous with destiny.

It is fitting that this bell, high in the tower, should set the stage for the saga of 1957 - 1958. For as its music travels heavenward it carries aloft the human spirit and speeds it onward and upward to its eternal destination.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRITY

"No man goes about a more godly business than he who is concerned with the right upbringing of his own and other people's children."

— Aristotle

Mr. John D. O'Brian

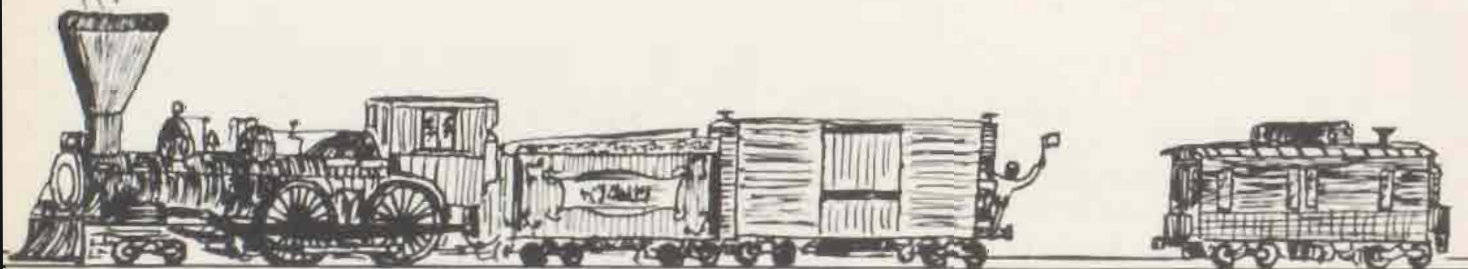

The 1958 graduating class proudly presents its 1958 Ivy Tower to Mr. O'Brian. Joining the Dunkirk High School faculty in 1923, Mr. O'Brian has served under two principals and three superintendents. He has taught mechanical drawing, English I, and Driver Training.

The many students that have passed through Mr. O'Brian's classes, including many of our parents, join with us in this salute to a faithful teacher and a loyal friend.

From 1869 to 1928, the Brooks Locomotive Works, later the American Locomotive Company, manufactured 13,245 steam engines for railroads all over the world.

HIGHLIGHTS OF DUNKIRK HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING PROGRAM

What happened in 1858? Cyrus W. Field spliced Europe and America with the Atlantic cable in August; Bernadette made a shrine at Lourdes famous in February; Lincoln and Douglas carried on forensically during the summer; Minnesota was admitted to the Union as the thirty-second state in May; and Oliver Wendell Holmes published "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table." Here in Dunkirk, Number One School was a year old and housed the first graduating class of the newly incorporated Dunkirk Free School District.

Twenty years later plans were executed to erect the first structure on the present campus. This five acre plot was obtained by the district through the influence of Mr. Walter Smith, one of Dunkirk's enterprising citizens. The new red, brick building known as the Dunkirk Academy was opened in 1881. The beautiful trees on the campus were planted in 1890.

In 1896, the Academy was enlarged by an addition several times the original size. Ten years later another addition provided space for the Junior High School.

The present "new" building was erected in 1925.

1956 saw the dedication of the new Field House at the athletic field in memory of Charles Aey, a former coach at Dunkirk High School.

During the summer of 1957 a teachers' parking lot was built on the south side of the campus near Sixth Street.

ADMINISTRATION

A lighthouse, like a star in the night, reminds one of Carl Schurtz's quotation on ideals; "Ideals are like stars; you will not succeed in touching them with your hands. But like the seafaring man on the desert of waters, you choose them as your guides, and following them you will reach your destiny."

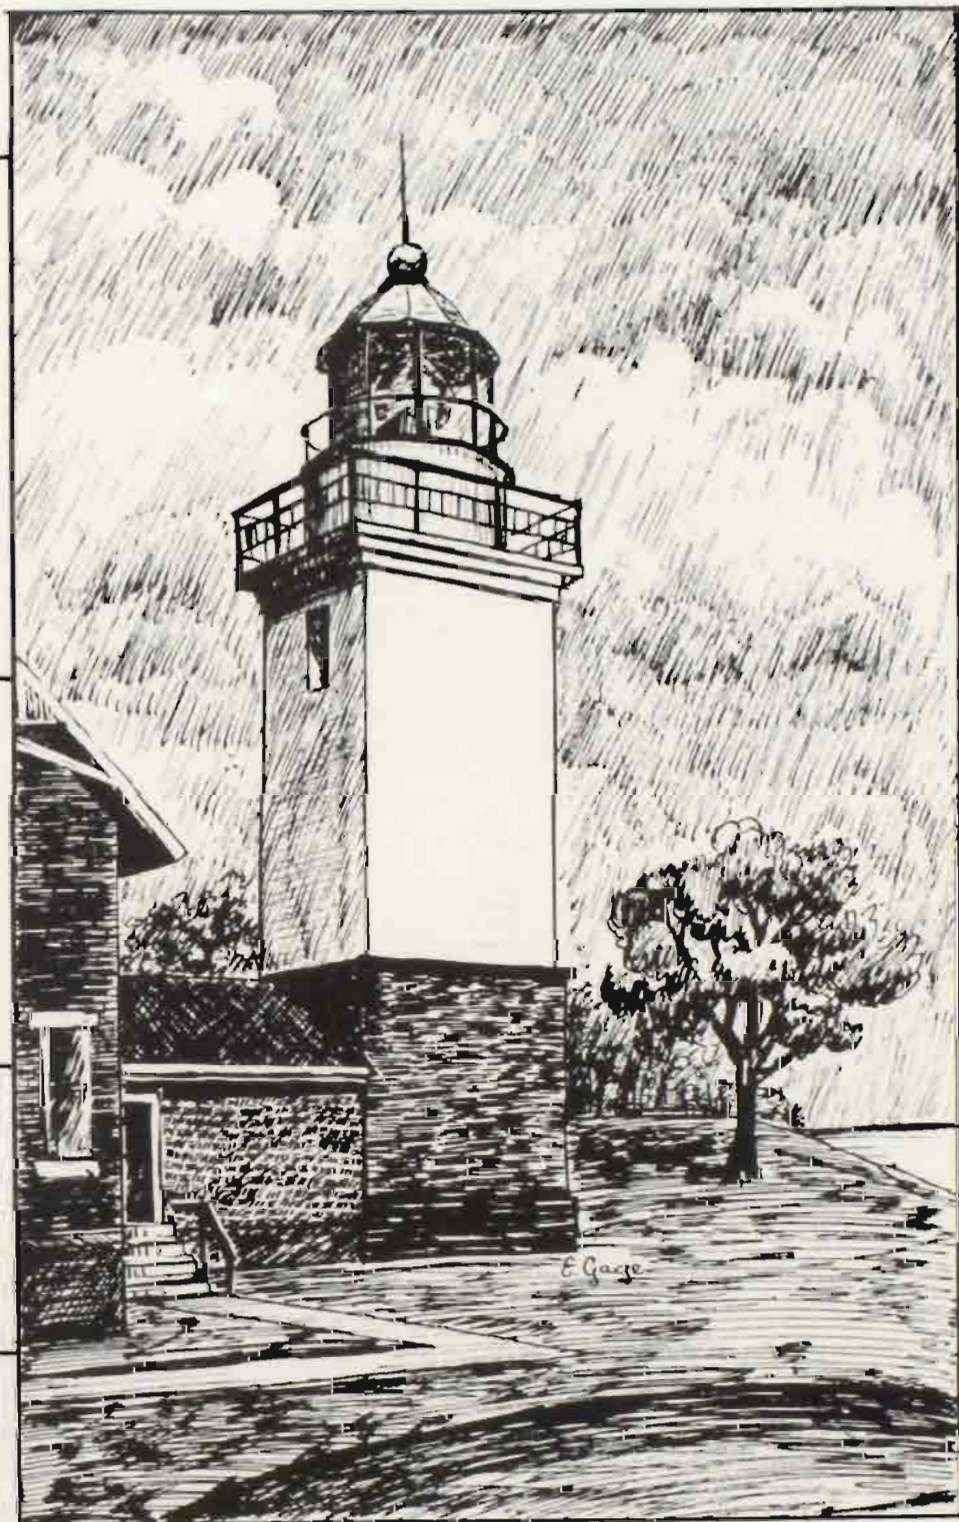

When Dunkirk harbor was first visited by white men is difficult to determine, but as Lake Erie was known by its name to the Jesuits as early as 1641, there can be little doubt of the beautiful bay having been observed at an early date.

According to the "History of Dunkirk" by Obed Edson, the first vessel that came into Dunkirk harbor after the village was settled was brought in by Samuel Perry in 1810.

The first lighthouse was built in the 1820's with the woods being cleared by Levi Pease in the employ of Walter Smith.

The present lighthouse was erected in 1875. Its light was imported from France at a cost of $10,000.

The above information was obtained from the Second Edition of "The Grape Belt," July 14, 1896, "Souvenir Harbor Number."

Mr. Richard W. Hayes
Principal, Dunkirk High School

It is at a time like this that I wish I could impart some words of wisdom that could make a lasting impression upon your minds and hearts. I think you must know that you are entering a world torn by dissension, and undermined with suspicion and fears. If you think our American way of life is worth saving (and I know you do) then you must apply all your energies, both physical and mental, to that end. You will have to constantly be on the alert for those forces which seek subtly to destroy us. This must not happen and only you can prevent it. You may have to discipline yourself to do with less so that your country will be safeguarded.

SENIORS

As the Seniors travel on life's Thruway, they will be continuously making decisions as to the route. The interchanges are frequent and many decisions are irrevocable. The dichotomy of paths is ever present, the good in one direction and the evil in the opposite direction. Sometimes these paths are close together, sometimes they are far apart.

Hills, like pride, have to be chiseled away; valleys, like ignorance, have to be filled; and streams, like hardships, have to be bridged. Stopping is permitted only for repairs and monotony can be removed by changing the pace.

No matter how short or how long the trip — remember, it is a toll road!

UNDERCLASSMEN

The history of the Dunkirk Free Library involves an 1886 graduate of Dunkirk High School — Henry Heyl. As President of the Alumni Association he was able to gain the support of his colleagues in a program designed to influence Andrew Carnegie to name Dunkirk as one of his library beneficiaries. The association was successful and the old Brooks Memorial Library was consolidated with the new Dunkirk Free Library. The Seniors urge the underclassmen to make better use of this storehouse of knowledge and that they become better acquainted with its facilities and services.

AT THE STATION

The New York Central Station, tucked along the side of the elevated tracks, is the symbol chosen to introduce the story of the high school program. As a station ties a community to a vast railroad network so does a high school expose a student to great fields of knowledge and the means by which they can be uncovered.

While the Seniors were at the station this year, they encountered many experiences. Most of them are recorded only in their minds and hearts. Some are recorded here.

While the Twentieth Century Limited has been roaring through Dunkirk each night, a century has slipped through Dunkirk High School.

Miss Foss Retires in June.

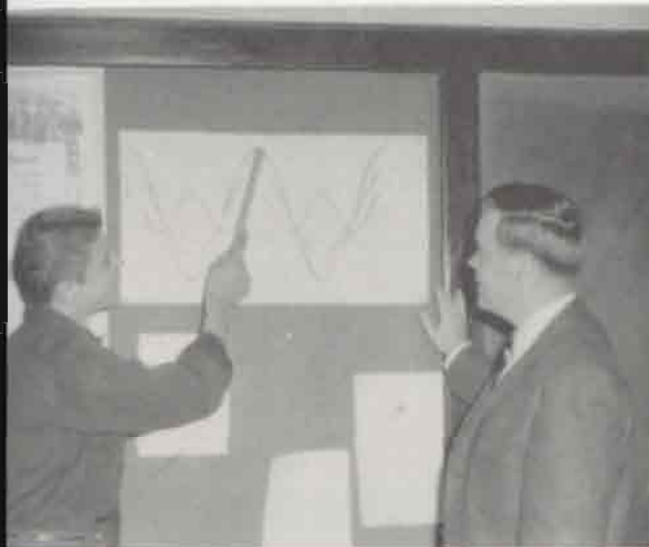

Long years I talked as from a throne
To children who would hear me,
When eyes with ardent questions shone
And glory hovered near me.

I guided them along the way
That skirted instant sorrow
From tumbling blocks of yesterday
To visions of tomorrow.

But now that memories recall
The transient afterglow
I wonder did I teach them all
That anyone should know:

The prophet Micah's threefold-rule,
Our hearts' divining rod,
Do justly, and be merciful
Walk humbly with thy God.

FACULTY

SPORTS

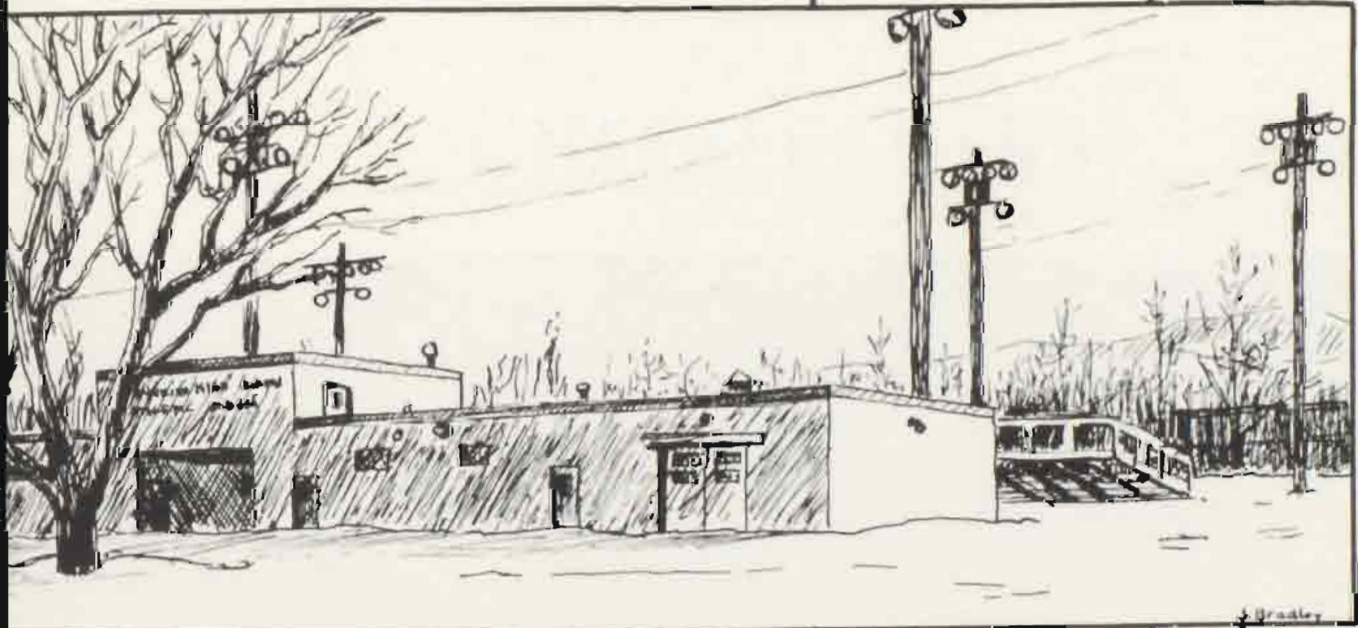

Truly indicative of progress, the new field house stands as a proud symbol of the many years of athletic activities at Dunkirk High School.

Completed in 1955, it was dedicated in May 1956 in memory of the late Charles Aey.

Over the years Dunkirk High School athletes have been noted for a high degree of sportsmanship, physical fitness, and willingness to win.

It is the wish of the Seniors that in the next one hundred years, the high standards and traditions of this department shall continue to grow and become more deeply imbued in the hearts of the student body.

BOYS' "D" CLUB

Popcorn salesmen

The Boys' "D" Club, under the capable direction of Mr. Pagano, completed their thirty-fifth year as a club. Athletes, who had achieved a major D, were welcomed into the "D" Club, at two initiations.

The boys ran a refreshment stand during the football games and sold popcorn and pop during the basketball games. The club members benefited from these activities by attending a football game, two hockey games and two basketball games. The year was successfully completed with a gala banquet.

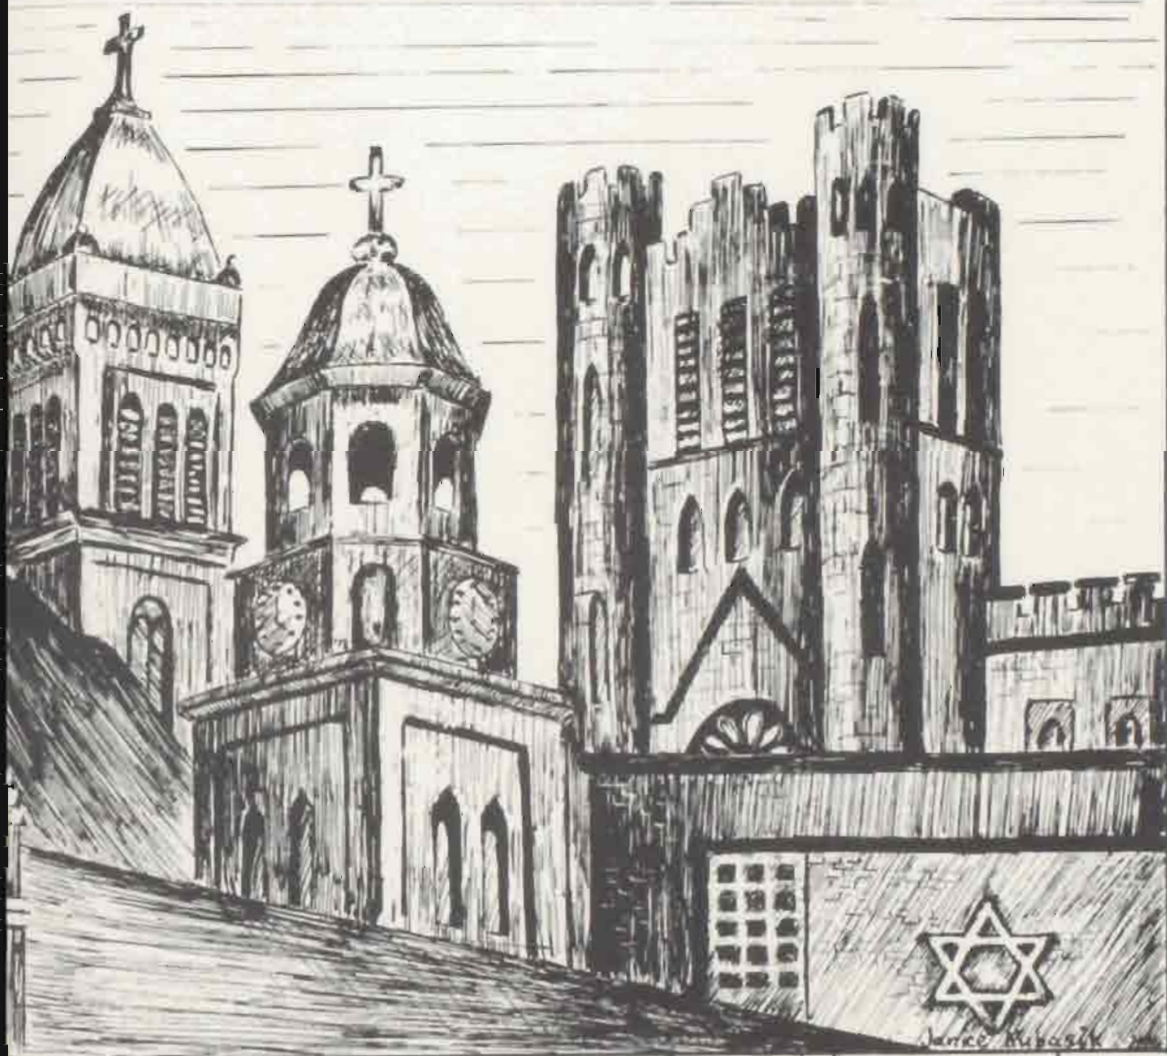

CLUBS

Looking back through the centuries, historians credit the beginning of the club to church societies; for churches not only provided a place to worship God, but usually encouraged groups of men and women to perform useful and charitable deeds.

Performing some service together, working for a worthy cause together, achieving a set goal together — are satisfactions every active club member can realize.

For a century now graduates of Dunkirk High have banded together in interested groups — from the first small unit that edited "The Rising Star" in 1859 to the present numerous organizations whose services range from stage management to student government.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Our newly organized Student Council is in its first year of service to D.H.S. and its members are doing a good job. They have initiated new projects for the benefit and enjoyment of all.

Polio Queen

D.H.S. QUEEN CONTEST

The Citizen Staff and Mr. Bleck are to be commended for their efforts in the annual polio plea. Each club nominates a queen and the student body, for a dime a vote, elects a favorite. This year Shelly Olson, nominated by the Boys' "D" Club, was the winner. Over $275 was raised for the "March of Dimes."

HONOR SOCIETY

"Come on you kids, help me select a movie for the assembly." If you happened to be passing the Honor Society study hall last fall, you might have heard President John Bennett issuing this plea to the other members. The selection of this movie was perhaps the biggest task of the club. Each year, the Honor Society rents a full-length motion picture which is shown to the entire student body. This year the movie was entitled, "Western Union" and was very successful. The proceeds were used for the Pearl Reed scholarship fund.

This was not the only project undertaken by the scholars. They also aided in the All Clubs Christmas Party and attended an opera at Fredonia State.

Under the careful guidance of Mr. Krieder and Mrs. McNabb, the Honor Society completed another successful year.

THE CITIZEN

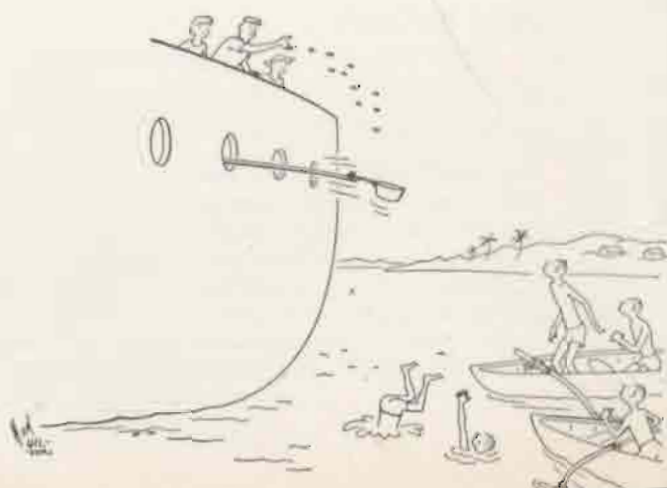

"Did you type up that feature article?"

"The make-up deadline is next Monday."

Such conversations were heard in the CITIZEN office all year long as the entire staff concentrated on printing as many issues as time would permit.

Early in the year, staff members formed a brand new organization called the Press Club. It numbered among its members those who worked on the CITIZEN. Projects of the new club, with Mr. Bleck as advisor, included: March of Dimes Queen contest, Playing Christmas carols over the P.A. system, the CITIZEN dance and the first record hop we know of at D.H.S. Some of these activities helped pay for the four extra pages that were included in the CITIZEN this year.

Time passed quickly, and before long it was time for the St. Bonaventure Journalism Conference. This day long trip was filled with fun and interesting pointers on correct journalistic techniques. Thus, another year, filled with work, but not lacking in play, was completed by the D.H.S. CITIZEN.

MATH AND SCIENCE CLUB

To celebrate the International Geophysical Year, a Math and Science Club was formed this year under the direction of Mr. Farley. The club has had its aims to advance the interests in science and mathematics in our school.

The club met weekly and at the meetings were speakers who helped to further the work of the club. Several projects were completed and shown to the rest of the school. Perhaps the most notable was the neon sign presented to the school. Also, several successful candy sales were sponsored by the club.

The club hopes to grow in future years with the growing interests of the school.

U. S. Army Redstone Missile

The Latin Club raised nearly $500 for overseas educational work sponsored by UNESCO. Robert Esch, Mr. Hayes, Diane English, Ed Harris.

Activities of the Latin scholars this year included a candlelight initiation for new members, a dance, and pizza and candy sales. The year was closed with an authentic Roman banquet complete with togas and reclining in the Roman fashion. It was held in the boys' arena. Miss Dimpfl and Mr. Bixby are the advisors.

F. H. A.

Meeting early in September the Future Homemakers elected, President, Patricia Letersky; Vice-President, Carol Romanik; Treasurer, Helen Marzullo; Secretary, Loretta Marzullo; Parliamentarian, Christine George; Historian, Barbara Espersen; Student Council, April Harris; Publicity, Junita Epolito and Sylvia Smith.

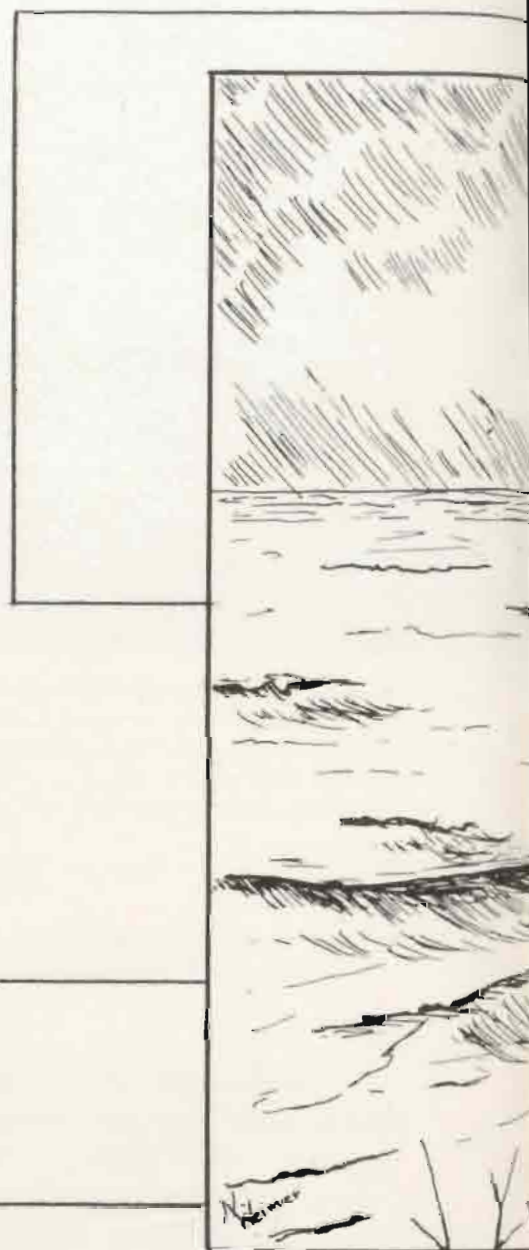

An eventful year, 1957 - 1958, has been filled with degree work, candy sales, annual signature dance in June and selecting a queen for March of Dimes contest.

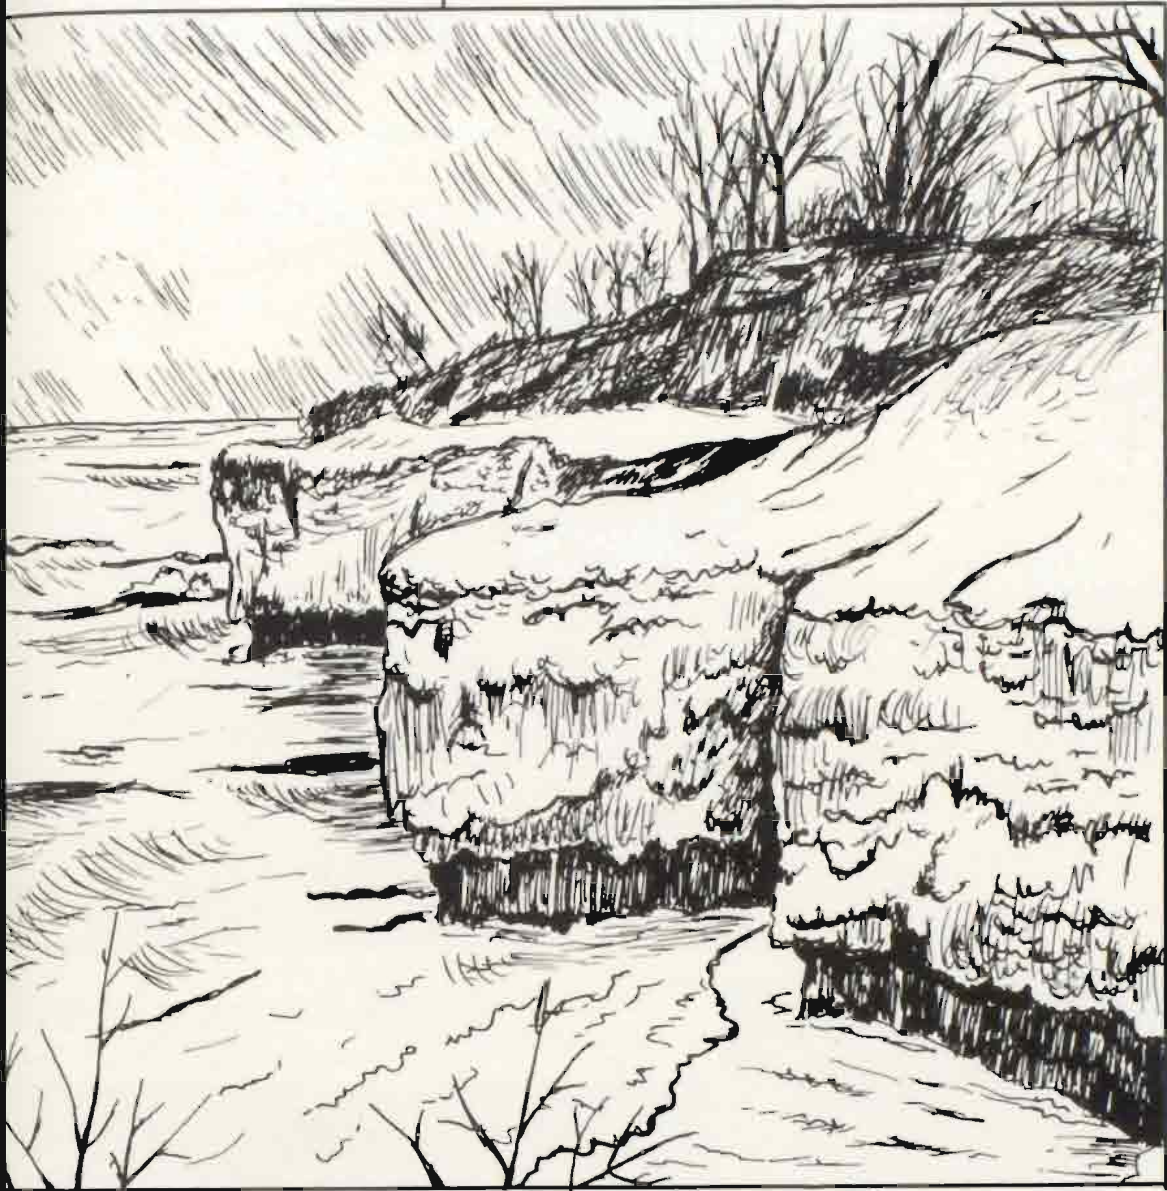

Working for degrees in F.H.A. has resulted in a program theme of "Local, National and International Understanding."

SENIOR ACTIVITIES

As the cliffs along Point Gratiot have been molded by the wind and waves, the Seniors have been molded by their surroundings and contacts. And, like that rocky shoreline familiar to them all, the Seniors, too, have endured both stormy periods and calm, pleasant ones. No longer the uncertain freshmen, the Seniors are maturing and realizing the seriousness of the tasks ahead. Perhaps this realization causes them to exert greater effort in their final year in high school. Because of this, when they look back, they will have many enjoyable moments to remember. Some may recall the excitement of the amusing incidents during school, and still others may remember the outstanding qualities of their classmates. Each one will recall some happy experiences as he views the story of the Senior Activities.

I've got six aces

Our two cripples

Get the ball to little dragon!

1. All aboard. 2. Ain't she sweet? 3. Deadline dilemma. 4. Ping pong sharks. 5. Your ticket please. 6. I won't dance. 7. Must be intermission. 8. Future artists. 9. The sewing circle.

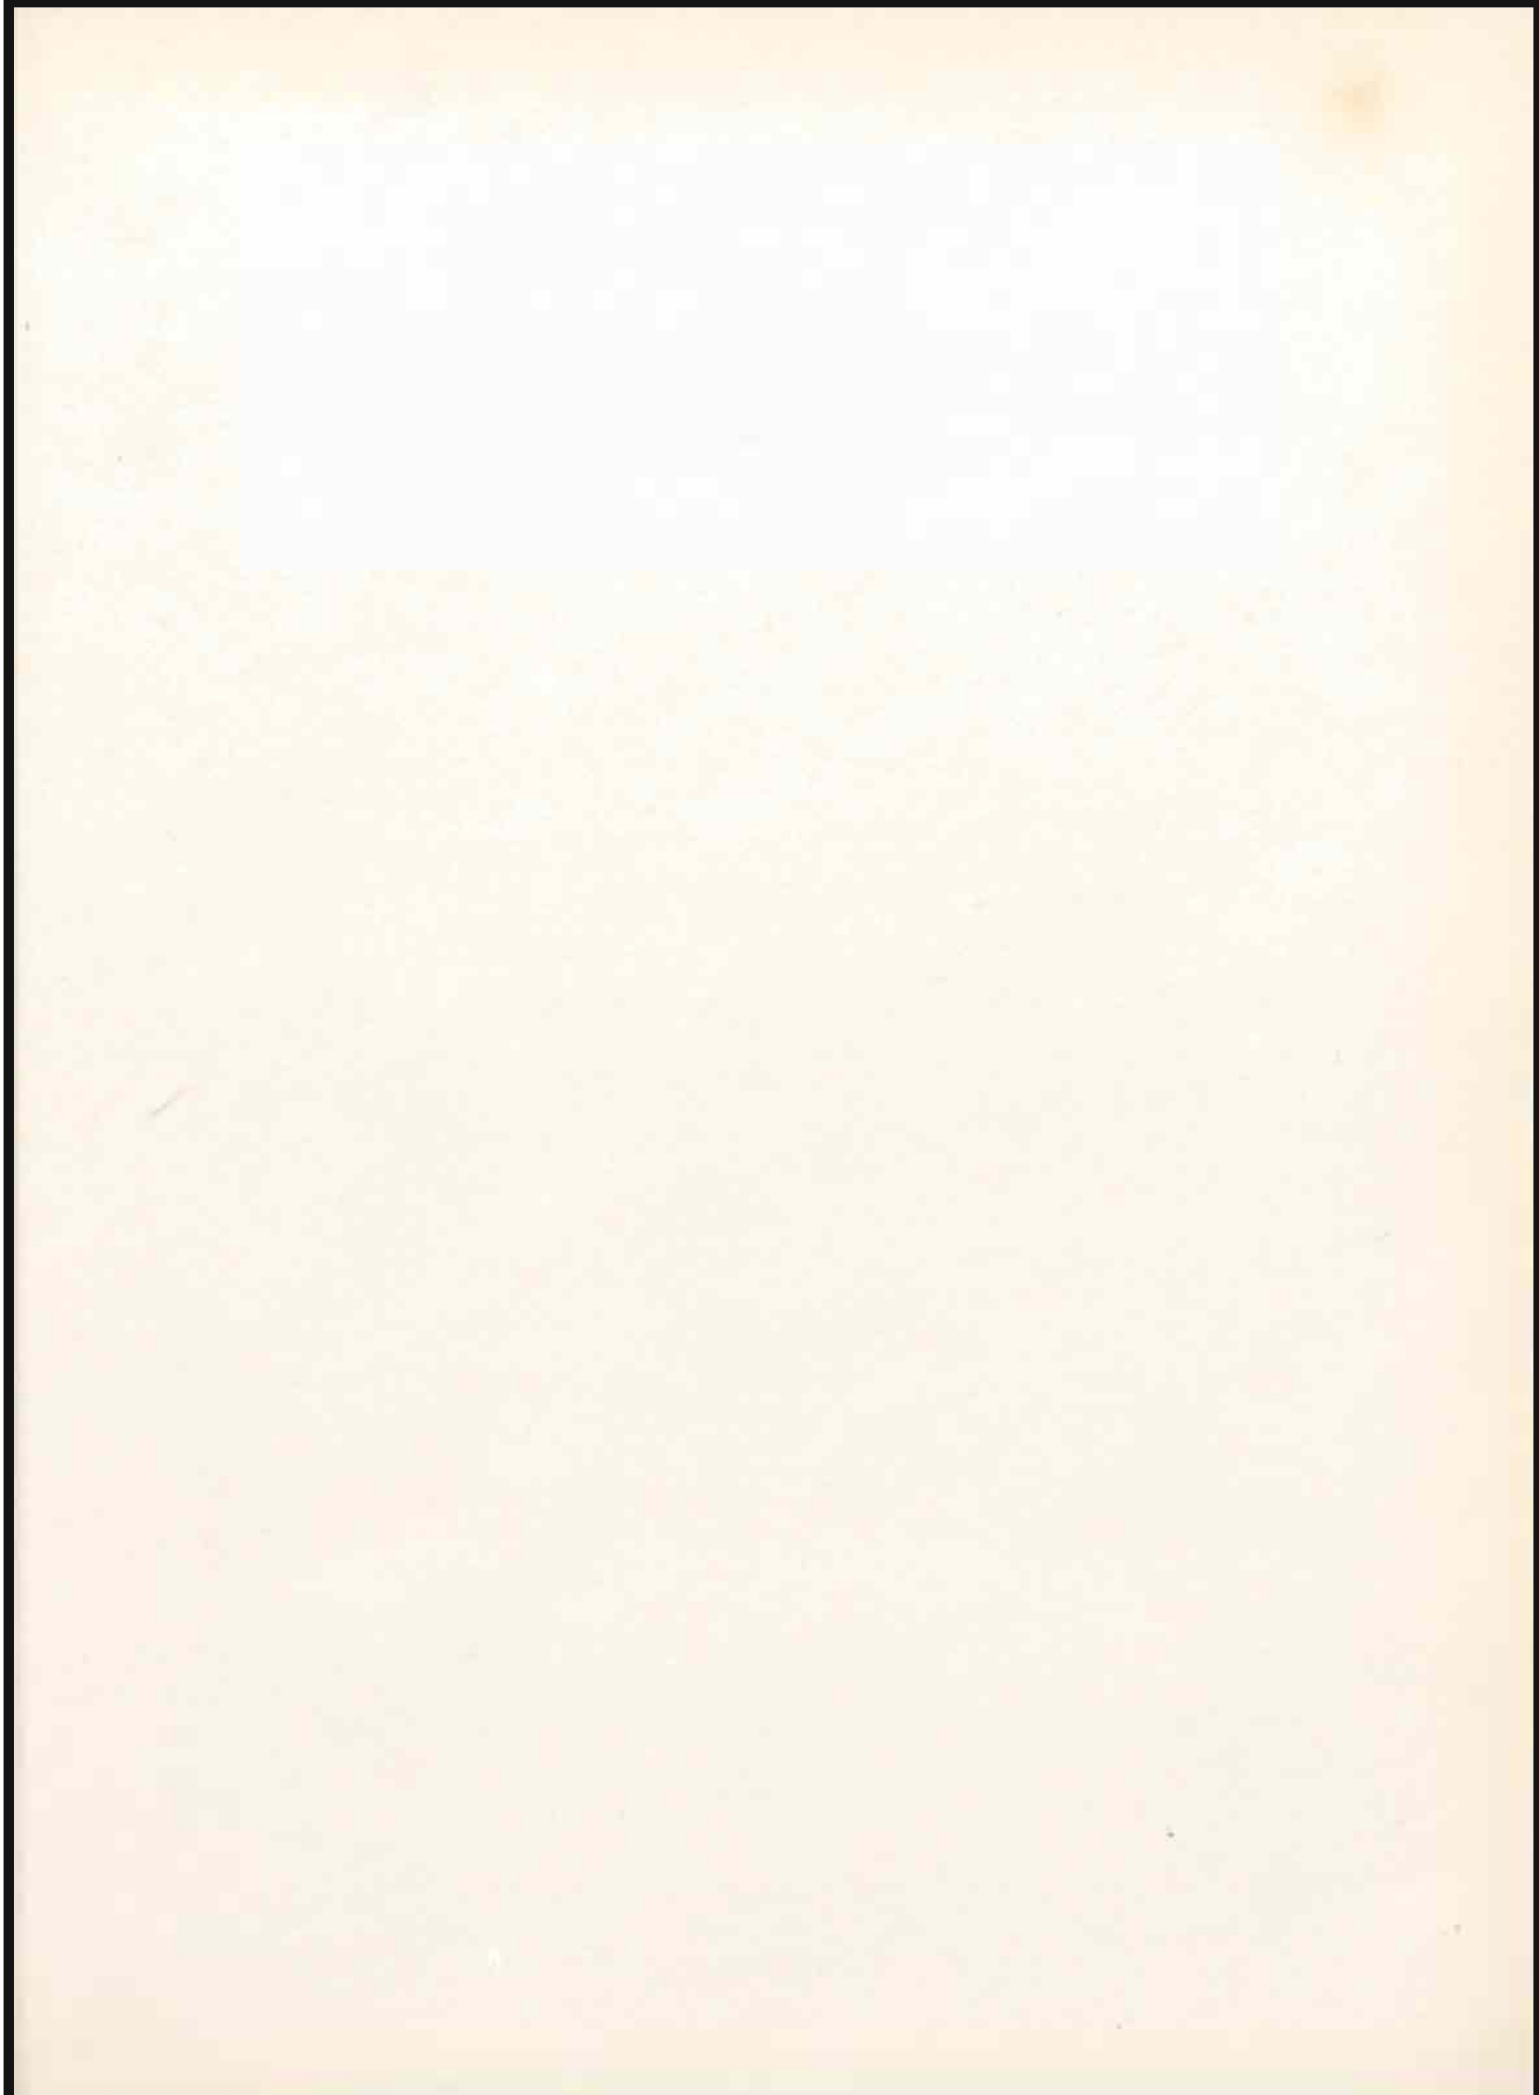

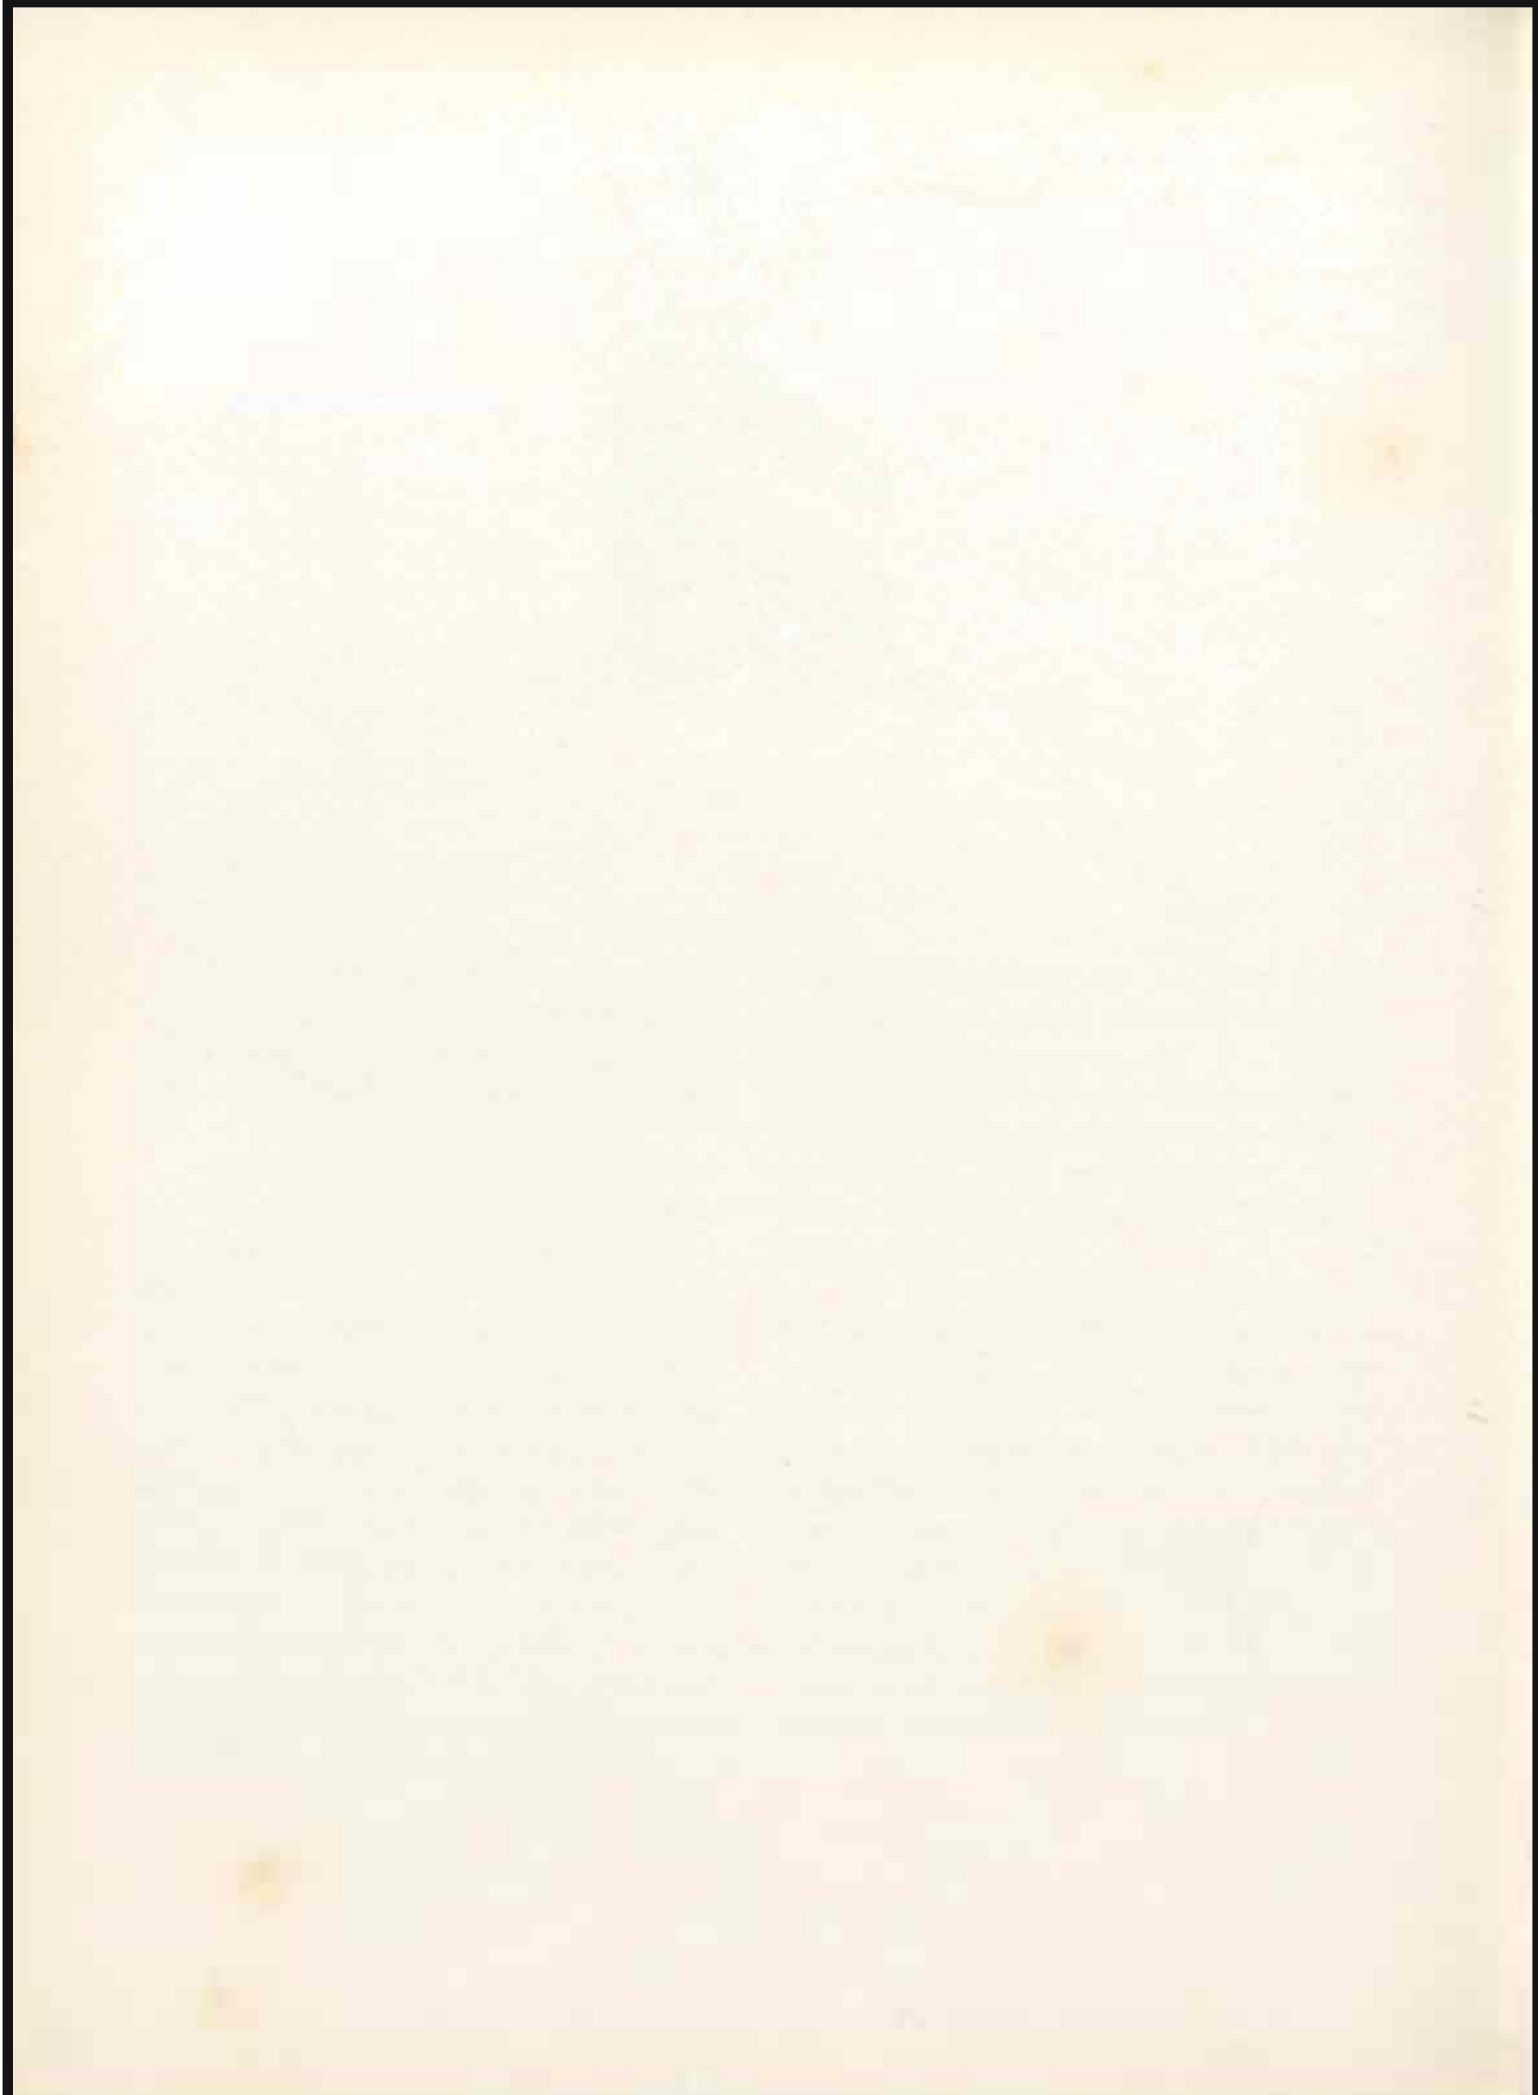

Looking back or looking ahead we can never stop the ever march of time. As we pass through the gate of graduation, we pause to reflect on these words of Havelock Ellis:

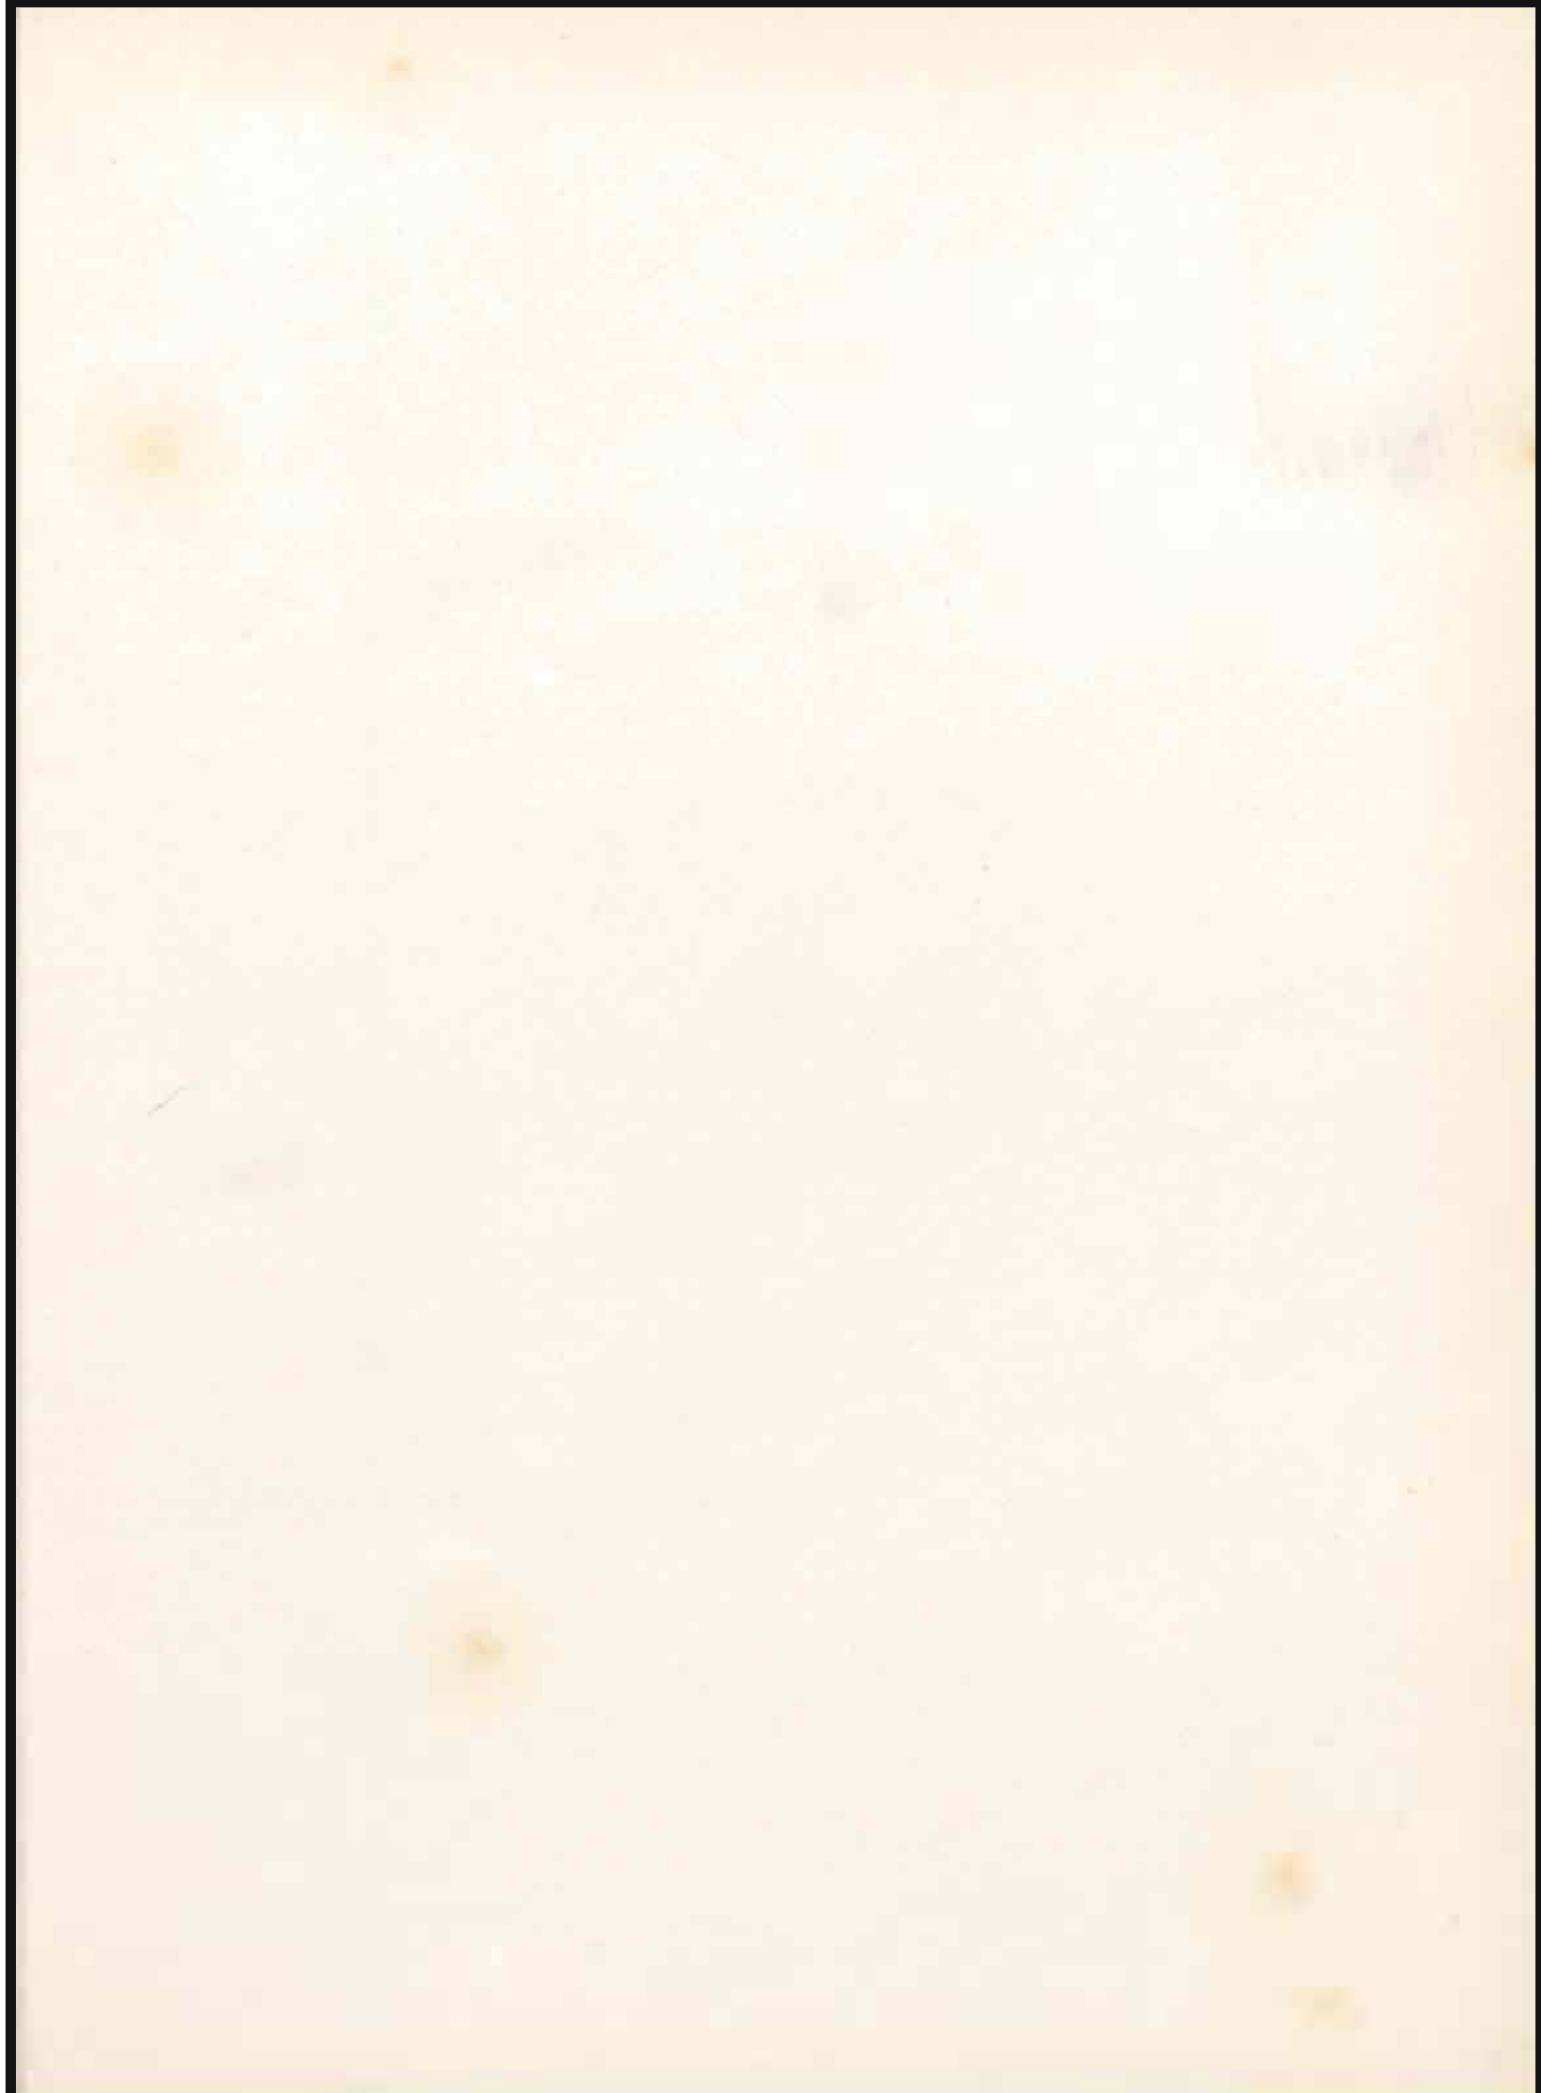

"For there are always some who passionately seek to hold fast to the past; there are always others who passionately seek to snatch at what they imagine to be the future. But the wiseman, standing midway between both parties and sympathizing with each, knows that we are ever in the stage of transition. The present is in every age merely the shifting point at which past and future meet, and we can have no quarrel with either. There can be no world without traditions; neither can there be any life without movement. As Heraclitus knew at the outset of modern philosophy, we cannot bathe twice in the same stream, though, as we know today, the stream still flows in an unending circle. There is never a moment when the new dawn is not breaking over the earth, and never a moment when the sunset ceases to die. It is well to greet serenely even the first glimmer of the dawn when we see it, not hastening towards it with undue speed, nor leaving the sunset without gratitude for the dying light that once was dawn.

"In the moral world we are ourselves the light-bearers, and the cosmic process is in us made flesh. For a brief space it is granted to us, if we will, to enlighten the darkness that surrounds our path. As in the ancient torch-race, which seemed to Lucretius to be the symbol of all life, we press forward torch in hand along the course. Soon from behind comes the runner who will outpace us. All our skill lies in giving into his hand the living torch, bright and unflickering, as we ourselves disappear in the darkness."
