Valedictorian

High School is over now, and another part of our lives has come to a close. Our experiences during the past four years have been both good and bad, but together they have shaped us into the people we are today.

Along our way through Dunkirk High School, we’ve made new friends and have been introduced to new ideas. It is now our turn to use what we have learned. Graduation is not an end, but instead a beginning. We will go our separate ways, meeting new and different challenges as we continue to learn.

We have gained our independence, and the world is beginning to recognize us as adults, no longer as children. Let us use our new freedom well.

“Oh, it’s time to start living.
Time to take a little from the world we’re given
Time to take time, for spring will turn to fall,
In just no time at all.”
(from Pippin)

Elizabeth K. Walldorf

Salutatorian

The reality that the school year has ended causes me to reflect on the many experiences we have shared. High School not only prepares us for our future goals through knowledge, but also by communicating and participating with others. We learn to become members of groups yet maintain our own individuality. In later years when we think of DHS, we will remember how we grew to understand ourselves and others through the many friendships we made.
